France, 1917

Dearest Taylor,

Just a quick postcard as I'm just off shift & exhausted! We've had a huge number of soldiers through today & with the most dreadful injuries. I've been on my feet now for almost 18 hours. Hopefully no air raids tonight else I'll be no use to anyone tomorrow!

I hope you are looking after yourself & your family. I don't like the sound of your pandemic. It would just be our luck to see off this terrible war only for things to take a

Sending strength and best wishes,

Poppy xxx

Note: I've attempted to mimic the handwriting of the time, but it's very difficult! I've managed the looping 'D' in Dear and the 'J' in Just (just!). The address I've used no longer exists but was where my great grandmother lived when war broke out – the address is listed on my great grandfather's forms when he signed up.
